Pratham Vocational Training: Empowering Youth through Skills and Opportunity

Pratham, one of India's most impactful educational NGOs, launched its Vocational Skilling Programme in 2005 with a clear mission — to empower youth from economically disadvantaged backgrounds by equipping them with employable skills and connecting them to sustainable livelihoods. Aimed at individuals aged 18 to 35, the programme has grown into a nationwide movement for skill-based empowerment and entrepreneurship.

Founded in 1995 by Dr Madhav Chavan, Pratham began as a literacy initiative in the slums of Mumbai. Today, it stands as a symbol of innovation, inclusivity, and large-scale educational reform. Through its vocational skilling programmes, Pratham continues to transform young lives, bridging the gap between aspiration and ability, and preparing India's youth for a brighter, more skilled future.

With affiliations to the National Skill Development Corporation (NSDC) and various Sector Skill Councils, Pratham's skilling initiatives now span over 140 centres across 18 states and one Union Territory, including a prominent centre at Bhumi World Industrial Park. The organisation boasts a remarkable placement rate of over 85%, having trained more than 200,000 youth through its extensive network of 2,000+ employers. In 2022–23 alone, over 30,000 youth completed industry-aligned training programmes.

In response to the pandemic, Pratham introduced its Hybrid Skilling Programme in 2020, combining digital and practical learning to help youth adapt to the post-COVID job landscape. The three-tier model—awareness, virtual training, and hands-on experience—provides a holistic pathway to employment. From 7–10 days of trade exposure to 30–45 days of practical training at partner industries or community centres, participants gain both technical knowledge and real-world experience.

In addition, students are trained in English communication, computer literacy, and life skills, ensuring holistic personal and professional development.

Pratham also extends its reach to informal economy workers — offering upskilling, certification, and entrepreneurship mentoring in trades like tailoring, beauty, construction, and food production. Graduates receive post-placement mentoring and tracking for one year, enabling them to sustain and grow in their careers. If any candidate interested to enroll his name please contact 9870304031

Pratham Forklift Training Center at Bhumi World offers professional forklift training to help individuals build rewarding careers in the warehouse and logistics industry.
